FRIENDSHIP.

Essay by Harry Blechner.

It is interesting for those who to-day complete their work at this Institution to look back upon their school career and see what has been gained by the years of effort on our part, and by the untiring efforts expended upon us by our teachers.

In thus reviewing our schooldays we must admit that the friendships here formed will probably influence our lives as much as any other single line of accomplishment.

Friendship has been briefly defined as the expression of the highest esteem between two persons. In order to esteem another person we must have respect for him and confidence in his ability.

To select a friend is not an easy task. One must judge carefully the merits of one in whom he wishes to confide. Between true friends there will always be differences of opinion, but a true understanding of one another on the part of friends should make the settlement of quarrels an easy matter. Forgiveness between true friends should be as genuine as that between man and God.

Friendships should not be rushed into too hastily. We often see how friendships which spring up suddenly, die down with the same degree of rapidity and often very unpleasant results follow.

A man's success in life depends upon his ability and wisdom in the selection of a friend. History furnishes numerous examples of men who have been guided through the most critical periods of their lives by the able advice of a prudent friend, and often we see men like Samson, of old, give ear to the advice of false and wicked friends, with the result that his usefulness in life was taken from him.

Let us then remember when we go out in life to select good friends, for we will be judged by our friends. Association with men of good and kindly dispositions will result in our acquiring just such habits.

Often when we come in contact with people for the first time, we at once take a liking to them and enjoy being in their company. That is because they set aside self and live for others. We should strive to do likewise and would find that the world always has a place for one who is ready and willing to endure trifling inconveniences for the sake of making others more happy.

THREE GREAT INVENTION

THE SPINNING MACHINE

The distaff and spindle constituted the first spinning machine, and were were well known more than three thousand years ago. The spinning wheel was the first improvement over the distaff and spindle. It was introduced into Europe in the sixteenth century, but had previously been used in Hindustan for ages. The first cotton ever spun by machinery was spun by Wyatt, of Lichfield, England, in 1730. The first great step in the invention of spinnery machinery was that of Lewis Paul, in 1738, who invented the "spinnery head" in which drawing rolls and twisting mechanism were united. The first power spinning machine proper was the "spinning-jenny" invented by James Hargreaves, in 1763. This contained eight spindles, afterwards increased to eighty, and enabled as many threads to be produced at one time. The next most important improvements were the "spinning-frames" invented by Richard Arkwright, in 1761, 1767, and 1775. He was born in 1732, died in 1792, and by trade was a barber, but did more to promote the manufacture of textile fabrics than any man who has ever lived. He was the first to organize the factory system, in which the various operations necessary to convert the raw material into cloth were carried on under one roof. There are two classes of inventors :- one who originate without perfecting, and another who perfect and render valuable the inventions of others. Arkwright belonged to the latter's class. He was created a Sir Knight in honor of his inventions, gave his ten children, at various times one hundred thousand dollars each, and died leaving two millions five hundred thousand dollars. Another very great improvement in spinnery machinery was the "mule," invented by Samuel Crompton, in 1774, when but twenty-one years of age. The machine was thus named on account of its hybrid nature, it being a combination of the drawing mechanism of Paul and Arkwright, with the jenny of Hargreaves. From this time forward the improvements are too numerous to mention, many of the most important having been made by Americans. It is hardly proper, however to call any one machine a spinning machine, as several are required to convert the cotton or wool into yarn after it leaves the card. Arkwright's improvements were introduced into America by Samuel Slater, in 1789; and in 1793 the "Slater Mill," the first cotton factory in America, was built in Pawtucket, R. I. Cotton has been spun so fine that one pound would make over five thousand miles of yarn! It has been stated that if all the women in the world were constantly employed in spinning with the distaff and spindle of Homer, they could not produce so much yarn in five years as is now produced by modern machinery in one.

THE WEAVING MACHINE.

The invention of the hand loom antedates all authentic history, but undoubtedly originated in either, Hindustan, Egypt, or China. The Old Testament frequently refers to woven fabrics. The Israelities carried with them the art of weaving when they left Egypt, and Pliny accords the invention to the Egyptains. The loom was probably known in England prior to the conquest by Caesar, at which time the woolen and linen cloth were manufactured at Winchester, to supply the Roman army. The first power loom was invented by De Gennes, a French naval officer, about 1678, but it never came into use. The first practical loom ever built was produced by Edmund Cartwright; an English clergyman, who spent over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in perfecting it. His first patent was granted in 1785, and his last in 1787, and it is now universally admitted that he was the real inventor of this invaluable mechanism. Steam was first applied to his looms in 1807, and the Parliament gave him a present of fifty thousand dollars for his great national services in 1808. He was born in 1743, and died in 1823. The "Jacquard loom" for weaving figured fabrics, was invented by Joseph Maria Jocquard, a straw hat manufacturer, of Lyons, France in 1801. All looms for producing figured goods are basid upon his discovery, which, next to Cartwright's, was the most important ever made in the art of weaving. He was born in 1752, and died in 1834. From the date of Cartwright's invention to the present time, the improvements relating to looms and their appliances are numbered by thousands, the most valuable of which have been made by Americans, notably the Bigelow carpet loom, Lyall's positive motion loom, Crompton's figure loom, the Mason loom, Knowles' loom, Scarle's wire-cloth looms, Hodge's elastic fabric looms, and many others.

THE KNITTING MACHINE.

The art of Knitting originated in Scotland about the year 1500 and has assumed an importance which places the knitting machine on nearly the same plane as the loom in the industries of the world. Hand-knit stockings were worn by Henry II. of France, as early as 1545 and by Queen Elizabeth in 1569. The first knitting machine was the "stocking frame" invented by William Lee, of Cambridge, England, in 1589. Cotton stockings were first knit by hand about 1730, and ribbed stocking were patented by Jeremiah Strut, in 1759. There are two principal classes of knitting machine, one producing a flat web, and the other a tubular web. In the Lamb machine the needles are arranged in two parellel rows, and either a tubular web, plain flat web, or ribbed web may be produced, as desired. The Aiken, Pepper, Bickford, Branson; Twombly, etc., are good examples of circluar machines. About the year 1865, Jones Hinkley, or Ohio, a very ingeuious mechanic, invented a knitting machine having but one needle. It was patented in this country and Europe, and was extensively used. Three years later Abel invented a machine which introduced a filling thread into a knit fabric, thereby adopting it to be made into cloth. It did not succeed at the time, but has since been extensively adopted and become immensely valuable. The Roberts' knitting machine is provided with a Jacquard mechanism, and also with a device for transposing the threads, thereby enabling it to knit figured fabrics in great variety, and also "plated work," or a fabric in which the colored threads are all drawn to the front, and the white to the back, or vice versa. It was invented by Walter Roberts, of Massachusetts, in 1884, when but nineteen years old, and is considered the most remarkable piece of mechanism ever invented by a person of that age. The Kelly knitting machine is also one of the most ingenious and valuable of all modern machines. It narrows and widens automatically, thereby producing better work, and effecting a great saving in the manufacture of stockings. It was invented by W. H. Kelly, of Rhode Island, in 1885. To produce the knit goods now consumed by the inhabitants of the world would be an impossibility, without the aid of the knitting machine.—Mt. Airy World

GENEVA, N. Y.

Mrs. J. L. Connerton has left for New York to visit her old Cabra mates, Miss Joyce and Miss Healy. Will be home after the Glorious Fourth.

The writer was present at the picnic held at Glen Haven under the auspices of the Rochester Ephpheta Society last week.

Of course Uno (?) that the Rochester lady correspondent will furnish you with the particulars for publication in your valuable paper.

The Rochester silent community will turn out in full force to hold a big picnic on Saturday, July 27th. They bid welcome to everybody from far and near.

Sorry to see Mrs. Colgan part with Father Rochester. It was such a very hard seperation for both especially Mrs. Coglan because she had always lived in the flower city, until put asunder. But it is said that her husband is doing much better in Binghamton, N. Y.

Ho! for Syracuse, Avgust 9—10. The train conductor will wake us up at the Syracuse depot for these dates.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch moved here from Carthage, N. Y., last month. Mr. Welch is a baker.

"Clarry" the collar cutter, at 40 still is a happy bachelor. Later at 60 what??

Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Neil with child have just returned home from Rochester and vicinity, after some time visiting with Mrs. O'Neil's brother.

Where oh! where is Veditz? Is it possible that Veditz has not yet waked up since the fatal day that he was laid low by a Brooklyn Modern David?

Luck has favored Matt Kendrick with a good job in the Albany Capitol. He was formerly employed at the Albany City Hall in the same capacity.

Jno. L. Connerton went to Watervliet, called thither by the death of his brother a few weeks ago. Mrs. Connerton accompanied him.

ROCHESTER.

On June 17th Rev. William Kessel, C. S. S. R., victor of St. Joseph's Church went to New York City on business and remained away for almost a week, and while crossing on a ferry-boat from Hoboken to New York he noticed about fifteen or twenty deaf-mutes talking together in the sign language and said he could understand almost everything that was said. Why he did not make himself known to that little group is for himself to speak out.

June 23d Rev. Aloysius Engelhardt, C. S. S. R. gave an interesting talk on the sacramentals before quite a number ef Catholic deaf, it being the last of the instructions for the summer and after it was over announced that all the Catholic deaf of Rochester were invited to a private picnic on Sunday afternoon, June 30th, in the neighborhood of Burg View. After he got through with his talk he was taken completely by surprise, for the ladies of St. Agnes Alton Society and the Ephpheta Society had gotten up a party for him and presented him with two gold pieces of five dollars each as a taken of their warm regard for him and after all formalities were over those present were treated to ice-cream and cake.

The Ladies' Anxiliary connected with the church also tendered the rector to another surprised by presenting him with a handsome umbrella on June 25th, and on the 28th St. Agnes Alar Society of which Mrs. H. M. Hogan is a member also presented him with ten dollars.

Sunday afternon, June 30th, about twenty Catholic deaf including both the Fathers took the car for Glen Haven after two o'clock and arrived on the grounds of a friend of theirs, where all were served with light refreshments and then games were indulged in and prizes given to the winners in each event. Among those who won prizes were Miss Kramer, who won two; Miss Mary Hobing, Mrs. M. Kowski, and Messrs. John Connerton, of Geneva, and Rudolph Schmilt.

A very enjoyable time was had until supper was announced and then most of them departed for their homes after going a vote of thanks to the Reverend Fathers for their kind treat.

Among those noticed were Mr. John Hughes, of Lima, Mr. John D. Connerton, of Geneva, Miss Garvey and her friend, of Geneva, and Miss Josephine Quirion, of Buffalo, who is stopping with Mrs. H. M. Hogan for a week.

UNO.

It is reported that a man, selling court plaster, claiming to be deaf and dumb and trying to earn enough to enable him to pay for admission to a business college, has been around in this city.

Miss Addie Stevens, who was married to Mr. C. Peterson, on May 29th, by Rev. E. P. Hart, was given a variety shower at the home of Miss E. Kramer, before Saturday evening. She received a large number of useful presents.

Saturday evening, May 25th, a similiar shower was given Miss Eva Sullivan at Mrs. Goodison's, who was married on the same date by Rev. Hart.

The Local Alumni Association gave a Strawberry Festival at St. Luke's, June 6th, and an Orange Festival was held there, Thursday evening, May 23d, for the benefit of the mission.

A grand entertainment was given May 9th, at Shubert Theatre, by the pupils of Dr. Westervelt's school. Exhibition of school work, tea parties by the little ones, dances, drills and tableaux made the programme, and all were most successfully carried out. Some of the audience went with feelings of pity and their pity soon turned to praise. It was entirely free, and it is hoped donations will be given for the building of a much needed larger school on the plot of land already bought in the southwestern part of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Colgan have moved to the country in Greece, and like it much better than the city, and their boys are having lots of fine times. Her brother-in-law has bought a farm, half a mile from their home.

Mrs. George S. Davis was a guest recently at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whyland, of Avon, for a week, and also spent a week with her folks at Buffalo.

Mrs. Albert Hochstuhl leaves shortly for a long visit to her folks in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Thompson have purchased a farm of over a hundred acres at Chili, N. Y., and have moved there from Nunda, N. Y.

Mrs. Willie Denson has been the guest of her sister in the city for several weeks.

Friends and former pupils of the late R. B. Lloyd who desire to be numbered among the contributors to the Memorial Fund should send in their contributions at once. The memorial, a life-size crayon portrait, will be unveiled during the convention of the New Jersey State Association of the Deaf, at the New Jersey School for the Deaf, Trenton, on Labor Day. About $75.00 is needed to complete the Fund. The order for the portrait will be placed about August 1st.

Contributions may be sent by mail to either R. M. Robertson, 73 Sanford Avenue, Kearney, N. J., or to CHICAGO.

The recent Republican Convention here attracted large crowds, and the large hotels, especially the Congress Hotel, were certainly happy. It was pleasant to walk in the lobbies and see many persons of national reputation, namely the former Vice-President Fairbanks, Senator Root, Ex-Senator Depew.

Dr. G. T. Dougherty, an old time Democrat, had the chance of shaking hands with his favorite, William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Bryan used to live near the Jacksonville School for the Deaf, when he attended Illinois College many years ago.

On June 27th last, in Rev. G. F. Flick's church, Lyman Hunt, Chairman of the Industrial Bureau of the N. A. D., gave an interesting lecture, entitled "Farming." He was a delegate to the Columbus Convention of the N. F. S. D.

The following circulars about the annual picnic for the benefit of the proposed Illinois Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf, at Atlas Park, 5025 north 40th Avenue, on Monday (Labor Day), September 2, 1912, are being distributed. Take Elston Avenue car and go right to entrance of the grove. Those coming on other cars, should transfer to north-going Elston Avenue car. Rain or shine.

OBJECT OF THE PICNIC.

This is a popular affair of all the Deaf of Chicago.

All are interested in the plan to establish a state Home, wherein all aged and infirm deaf adults now kept in county poor houses may be gathered and cared for and have more congenial company.

The picnic has been an annual effort, by which to raise additions to the steadily growing fund, and in which various organizations of the deaf have taken an united interest on a greater scale.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS OFFERED TO ALL.

OPPORTUNITY to be actually and permanently interested in the good cause.

JOY to see the Fund grow. (There is over $9,500 in the Fund already).

PRIVILEGE to make princely donations to the Fund.

AID to realize the hope of the Home.

COMFORT and HAPPINESS secured to the Aged and Infirm Deaf.

ENJOYMENTS ASSURED.

Old Friends Met, New Acquaintances Made, Enjoyable and Happy Time, Plenty of Amusements, and Additional Information about Existing Homes and the Proposed Illinois Home.

ADDITIONAL FEATURE—A SHOP.

FANCY WORK, HOME-MADE CANDY, JELLIES, CANNED FRUIT.

Contributions to this Shop are hereby solicited and will be thankfully received. All proceeds of this shop will go to the Home Fund. Send prepaid or bring articles intended for the Shop to Mrs. G. T. Dougherty, 67 East 60th Street, Chicago, Ill.

For particulars and tickets, apply or write to A. L. Liebenstein, Chairman, 4529 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Picnic Committee—B. F. Frank, W. A. Zollinger, C. E. Sharphack, George F. Flick, Anton Tanzas, E. E. Carlson, Ben E. Hall, E. D. Kingon, C. W. Friday, Harry R. Hart, P. J. Hasenstab, Leo Clinnen.

Shop Committee—Mrs. G. T. Dougherty, Chairman; Mrs. J. E. Gallaher, MRS. George F. Flick.

Table Committee—Mrs. P. J. Hasenstab, Chairman; Mrs. Samuel Norris, Mrs. F. A. Martin, Mrs. B. F. Frank, Miss Cora B. Jacoba, Miss Grrce P. Knight, Mrs. Hattie Zuelsdorf.

William Harper, of Alabama, is here studying the course of linotyping and he will stay until July 27th. He has resigned as a foreman of the printing office in the South Dakota School for the Deaf.

Shelby Harris, Gallaudet, '12, has been in Chicago, "rubber-necking" for four days. He is going home in Mississippi. We hope his neck need not call the attention of a doctor. He has been appointed teacher in the Florida School, for the coming term.

Iva Robinson, of Chicago, is visiting with her relatives in Kentucky.

Morton Sonneborn, the honorable Treasurer of the Pas-a-Pas Club, is sick in bed.

George Johnson and Julius Bente, both of Kenosha, Wis., recently made a flying visit to Chicago. Mr. Johnson is a printer and Mr. Bente is an automobile body molder in the Rambler Auto Company.

Samuel Cohen, proofreader in the Sears, Roebuck & Co., is quite busy, studying the time tables as he will visit New York next August or September.

German Society.

The German-American Society for Deaf-Mutes has authorized Mr. Jacques Alexander, honorary member, to represent it at the Abbe de l'Epee Paris Convention in July.

Respectfully,

Every employe pays for superintendence and inspection. Some pay more and some less. That is to say, a dollar-a-day man would receive two dollars a day were it not for the fact that some one has to think for him, look after him and supply the will that holds him to his task. The result is that he contributes to the support of those who superintend him. Make no mistakes about this: incompetence and disinclination require supervision, and they pay for it and no one else does. The less you require looking after—the more able you are to stand alone and complete your tasks, the greater your reward. Then if you can, not only do your own work, but directly intelligently and effectively the efforts of others, your reward is in exact ratio, and the more people you can direct, and the higher the intelligence you can rightly lend, the more valuable is your life.

The Law of Wages is as sure and exact in its working as the Law of the Standard of Life. You can go to the very top and take Edison for instance, who sets a vast army at work and wins not only deathless fame, but a fortune, great beyond the dreams of avarice. And going down the scale, you can find men who will not work of themselves and no one can make them work, and so their lives are worth nothing, and they are a tax and a burden on the community. Do your work so well that it will require no supervision, and by doing your own thinking you will save the expense of hiring some one to think for you.—Elbert Hubbard.

Dr. E. A. Fay Honored.

The University of Michigan on the sixty-eighth annual commencement, and the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding, on June 27th, 1912, conferred the degree of Doctor of Science on Edward Allen Fay, Vice-President of Gallaudet College, and Editor of the American Annals of the Deaf. Dr. Fay is considered one of the foremost Dante Scholars in the country, and historian of American Schools for the Deaf.

The People of Greece

The modern Greeks are well-made men. They are, as a rule, tall, thin, and erect, They have oval faces, large, dark eyes, and beautiful straight noses.

They are intelligent people and have a great love for learning. Even the servants spend leisure moments in study.

Most of the Greeks are listless, idle, and not overfond of work, but this is probably due to the climate.

The men wear the native dress, which is also the uniform of the Greecian soldier. It consists of a skirt or kilt made of 20 or 30 yards of linen or calico, which is pleated so that it stands almost straight from the figure, wide leather belt holding pistols, knives, and tobacco; a woolen jacket, handsomely embroidered, and a red cap with a blue tassel hanging over the shoulder. Beautifully decorated garters and shoes that turn up at the toes complete the costume.

The women wear woolen skirts, long baggy woolen overcoats falling to their knees, and necklaces of gold and silver coins. They wear their hair in long, heavy braids.

The people are not very successful farmers, because they do know how to make the most out of a little bit of ground. In commerce and fishing they prove to be more successful, because of the many inlets that surround Greece.

MR. AXLING TO HAVE CHARGE OF NEBRARKA FIGHT.

An effort will be made to have the Nebraska Legislature modify or repeal the Oral Law. A petition to that effect will be presented to the next Legislature. Mr. P. L. Axling has consented to take charge of this work. All the deaf are asked to help in this movement. Details will be announced through circulars. We want the names of the officers of every local organization of the deaf, in order that circulars may be sent explaining the plan of operation. In most every city there is a society of the deaf. We want the name and address of the Secretary. Send it to P. L. Axling, 316 Pacific Block, Seattle.

PITTSBURG CLUB VOTES $10.00 TO COMBAT ORALISM.

The Twenty Club of Pittsburg has voted $10.00 to the N. A. D. to combat oralism. This is the kind of help we want. If the local societies and individual deaf will contribute to the N. A. D. fighting fund we can checkmate the pernicious work of the Volta Bureau. Money should be sent to S. M. Freeman, Treasurer, Cave Springs, Ga.

LETTER FROM NEBRASKA PARENTS OF A DEAF PUPIL.

MR. OLOF HANSON,
Seattle, Wash.

MY DEAR SIR:—We received your Circular of Information No. 2 and 7, and thank you for them, and the interest you take in the deaf of our States as we feel that they need a champion in trying to combat the results of the law made by our Legislature a year ago, requiring the exclusive use of the Oral Method in our deaf sohool at Omaha.

Your reply to Prof. C. G. Pearse is true in every sense and I only wish it could be more widely read and understood by the general public, for almost every one who knows nothing except what they have read in the magazines will tell the parents of a deaf child how easy it is for the deaf to be taught by lip-reading, etc., etc.

Our daughter is deaf and we had great hopes of having her educated along the lines of the Volta Bureau. But time and experience have taught us many things, and her education under the combined system is all we ask, for as it is the only method that brings happiness as well as education.

We only hope to see the Combined System returned to our States school, and will do all we can to help the good cause along, for the present system fails to give the deaf a "square deal."

Wishiug you every success.

Very truly yours,

L. E. Milligan, Superintendent of the Montana School, has been appointed permanent principal of the California School. His selection will undoubtedly please the deaf, as his attitude towards methods is that which they consider the right one. Mr. Milligan made a very good record in Montana.—Seattle Observer.

BALTIMORE

It is with great regret that we announce the death of Mrs. Alto May Kavanaugh, nee Lowman, which took place at her home near Frederick, Md., Saturday, June 17th. She was the first lady graduate of Gallaudet College, and for several years before her marriage, she was a valued teacher at the Maryland School. Besides her deaf husband, she leaves two bright and interesting children, who sadly mourn their loss. The Baltimore friends of Mr. Kavanaugh sympathize with him in his great loss.

The Methodist Deaf-Mute mission held a very pleasant outing down the bay at Tolchester Beach, last Saturday. About fifty deaf-mutes attended, and all reported a fine time.

Miss Ella Spencer is home again after a three weeks' visit to her friends, Mr. and Mrs. F, Insley, near Crisfield, Md. They own a fine farm right on the brink of the Chesapeake Bay, and Mr. Insley ships large quantities of oysters and fish to Baltimore.

Mrs. Kate Kampe spent Saturday and Sunday last, at the farm of Mrs. and Mrs. J. S. Kennedy near Aberdeen, Md.

Rev. A. D. Bryant conducted his last service at the Baptist Mission, last Sunday night, before a large attendance. With his family he goes to his home in Connecticut, where they will spend their vacation. In the Fall, he will resume his preaching at the church again. During his visits here for the past year, he has made many fast friends by his kindly and lovable dispositions. Like Rev. Michaels, he knows how to make and retain friends.

Rev. D. E. Moylan is now on his annual vacation at Mt. Lake Park, and will be gone two weeks. During his absence, the mission will be in charge of Rev. J. A. Branflick. Notwithstanding the hot weather there was a very attendance at the services last Sunday evening.

The Maryland School for the Deaf closed one week earlier than usual, to give Principal Ely a chance to be present at the fiftieth anuniversary of his graduation from Yale College.

Mr. John Smith, of New Jersey, was in town last week, and was present at the service at the Methodist Church, last Sunday

Mr. Wm. Hays, formerly of Pittsburg, Pa., is now a full-fledged Baltimorean, has secured a lucrative position in the B. and O. Central Building as auditor, through the influence of Cardinal Gibbons.

The Baptist Mission headed by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feast, will go to Tolchester Beach, on Saturday, July 20th. A big time is promised for all. A lot of the deaf-mutes of Washington, D. C., have made up their mind to go wiih the Baltimore mutes to that popular resort.

Mr. Holton Stiltz gave up the hard work on the farm near White Hall, and removed with his mother to this city.

Rev. Moylan baptized the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. H. Schleibaum at Christ M. E. Church, two Sundays ago.

Mr. T. Jenkins, of Portsmouth, Va., was a visitor in Baltimore last Sunday, and before leaving this city, he called to see ye scribe for a short business chat. He was granted several days furlough with pay, and at once came to Baltimore and then went to Washington, D. C.

The Maryland State Association of the Deaf will meet in this city on August 6th to 9th, in the Auditorium of Odd Fellows Temple. Everything has been running along smoothly and without any hitch whatever.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gehb invited a number of their friends to spend the 4th, with them at their cosy home near Fullerton, Md.

Arizona's New School.

It was nip and tuck with Arizona's new school for the deaf. The bill, as drafted by Mr. Henry C. White, was passed in the House of Representatives early in the session of the first State Legislature, but was buried beneath a mass of other bills in the Senate and in danger of being left without action, as the session was limited to sixty days. The friends of the bill despaired of getting it through, but Mr. White's appeal, "For goodness' sake, take the bill out of cold storage—do not keep it so long on ice," made a hit with the senators, and by unanimous consent it was placed on the last calender and passed within two days of final adjournment.

The following is from the Arizona Gazette:

WHITE GETS THE PEN.

Henry White has been presented with the pen with which Governor Hunt signed the bill providing for a school for the deaf and dumb in Arizona. Accompanying the pen was a note from the Governor reading: "This pen signed the bill for the education of the deaf, dumb and blind, at 6:15 P.M., May 16th, 1912. G. W. P. Hunt, Governor."

The school is made one of the departments of the State University, according to an old law, doubtless copied from that of Utah. It is a strange coincidence that the two schools that Mr. White built up should have been originally connected with State universities.

The methods of instruction will be substantially the same as those of the Rome, New York, and Nebraska schools. No other date can be given until after the school has been in operation for one year.

The following is from the Arizona Republican:

PAST MASTER OF "SIGNS"—

It seems to Mr. Henry C. White a curious fact that two of the best known celebrities, Sir Gilbert Parker and Dwing L. Elmendorf, whom the Phoenix board of trade have been anxious to secure as visitors and guests in the Salt river valley, were originally teachers of the deaf. Sir Gilbert taught in the school for the deaf at Belleville, Ontario, and quit only after his successful venture into literature. Prof. Elmendorf was one of the best of teachers in a New York City school for the deaf but even then was famous for his moving-picture exhibitions, and it was not long before he quit teaching and took up the line of work which he has since reduced to a fine art. If he could be induced to take views of Arizona's superb scenery and exhibit them on his annual tours of the eastern cities, it would be a good thing for the easterners. Both gentlemen are adepts in the art of conversation with the deaf and Mr. White will be glad to meet Prof. Elmendorf on a common ground.

CHANGES IN THE CALIFONIA SCHOOL.

Dr. E. L Milligan, Superintendent of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind has been appointed Superintendent of the California Institution at a salary of $250 per month with a residence and support for his family. He will enter on his duties next August. Prof. William A. Calawell who has ably managed the school as acting Superintendent will be retained as Principal of the Deaf-Mute Department.

PHOENICAN.

Beaver Valley, Pa.

On the 1st of June there was a meeting of twelve deaf-mutes under the leaderships of your correspendent at Billy Sunday Revival. Before the opening of his sermon, his famous Choir Leader, Mr Rodehaver asked us to stand up and were loudly applauded, Mrs. Rose Chestnut, the interpreter of R. P. Church in Pittsburg, was present and talked while Billy Sunday while Billy Sunday gave one of his famous sermon about "Repentance" from acts: 17: 30, The sermon was very interesting to us. We voted to thank Mrs. Chestnut has. She is improved in her work, better than we saw her a few years ago.

On the 15th of June we met Philip R. Schroedel, Mr. and Mrs- Tim Gorman and Miss Mary Grow, all of Pittsburg, after Billy Sunday's sermon, every of us was converted, total 16.

Mr. Philip R. Schroedel, of Pittsburg, was the guest of J. L. McManinia over Sunday, June 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Gorman, of N. S. Pittsburg spent Sunday and Monday at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Judd, on Srawberry Street, New Brighton.

Rev. B. R. Allabough, the Missionary dropped in New Brighton to talk at the Christ's Ep. Church, on the 22d of June, and 16 mutes were present. Rev. Allabough told us that he heard that nine were converted at Billy Sunday's Revival, he did not understand why he did not convert us after hard work preaching.

William Johnson Gibson, of McKees Rocks, just graduated from Edgewood Park School, has accepted a position with the Tribune Publishing Company, of Beaver Falls last week, offered by the JOURNAL Correspondent, who will try to get work for other mutes out of work. Any person wishing to correspond with Mr. Gibson, address 518 Third Avenue. New Brighton, Pa.

Auddey Pltzer, of Freedom, jumped in New Brighton as the guest of Livington of McManima for two Sundays, calling on other mutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bulger, of Ambridge were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Judd last week. While away from their home, the chickens beloning to the next neighbor invaded their ten acre garden and ate up every lettuce plant. When Mr. and Mrs. Bulger got home the following morning found the whole lettuce gone and felt discouraged.

Mrs. H. L. Judd's sister, Mrs. Ben Connors, of Uhridchsville, Ohio, spent a week's vacation with her on June 19 thto 16th. Mrs. Judd accompanied her to Libson, Ohio, where they spent a few days with their mother. Mrs. Judd came home last Saturday.

A deaf-mute, by the name of Frank Robinson, alias other names, was hit by a train while walking on the railroad tracks at Rochester, on the 30th ult. He was taken to one of the hospitals there and the authorities tried to get his name and whereabout of his relatives but could not. He was trying to talk to the nurses in the sign language. They found that he was a mute, but died without any information. Some cards just printed in Rochester before he was killed, bore his name. The police believed he was an impostor.

James Robert Cook, who was recently taken to the hospital at New Brigtton has recovered from his injuries in one of his legs. He has returned home to his beloved mother. He remained there for three weeks.

"Billy" Gumpf, the well known jolly fellow was in New Brighton, rnd paid his mute friends a visit last week.

An Emperor's Kindness.

Joseph II., Emperor of Austria, was a generous, warm heart man, who took a great delight in doing acts of kindness and charity.

One time, as he was pass through the streets of Vienna, dresed as a private gentleman, his attention was attracted to a boy about twelve years old, who timidly approached, and seemed anxious to speak to him.

"What do you wish, my little friend?" said the gentleman. His voice was so tender, and he had such a kindly look in his eyes, that the boy had courage to say:

"O sir, you are very good to speak to me so kindly. I believe you will not refuse to do something for me."

"I should be sorry to refuse you," replied the gentleman; "but why are you begging? You appear to be something better than a beggar; your voice and your manner show it."

"I am not a beggar, sir," replied the boy, as a tear trickled down his cheek. "My father was a brave officer in the army. Owing to illness, he was obliged to leave the service, and was granted a pension by the emperor.

"With the pension he supported our family; but a few months ago he died, and we are left very poor indeed."

"Poor boy!" said the gentleman. "Is your mother living?"

"Yes, sir, she is; and I have two brothers who are at home with her now. She has been unable to leave her bed for weeks, and one of us must watch beside her, while the others go out to beg."

Saying this, the poor boy tried very hard to keep back the great tears, but they would come in spite of all he could do to stop them.

"Well, well, my boy," asid the gentleman, "do not feel so unhappy; I will see what can be done to help you. Is there a physician to be found near you?"

"There are two, sir, only a little way from where we live."

"That is well. Now you go at once and have one of them visit your mother. Here is money, not only for the physician, but for otother things to feed you and make you comfortable."

"O sir," said the boy, as he looked upon the gentleman in amazement, "how can I thank you enough? This money will save my mother's life and keep my brothers from want."

"Never mind, my child; go and get the physician."

The boy obeyed, and the good emperor having learned the situation of the house where the boy's mother lived, bent his steps in that direction and soon arrived there.

The room in which he found the poor woman gave evidence of great misery.

She was lying on a low bedstead, and though still younug, her face was pale and thin from sickness and want. Very little funiture of any kind was to be seen, for the mother had disposed of nearly all she possessed to obtain bread for her children.

When the emperor entered the room, the widow and her children looked at him in astonishment. They did not know he was their emperor.

"I am a physician, madam," said he, bowing respectfully; "your neighbors have informed me of your illness, and I am come to offer what service may be in my power."

"Alas! sir," she answered with some hesitation, "I have no means of paying you for your attention."

"Do not distress yourself on that account; I shall be fully be repaid if I have the happiness of restoring you to health."

With these words, the emperor approached the bed and inquired all about her illness, after which he wrote a few lines and placed them on the cimmey-piece.

"I will leave you this prescription, madam; and on my next visit, I hope to find you much better." He then withdrew. Almost immediately after this, the eldest son of the widow came in with a medical man.

"O mother!" cried the boy, a kind good gentleman has given me all this!" and he placed in his mother's hand the money wnich the emperor had given him. "There now, don't cry, mother; this money will pay the doctor and buy every thing till you are well and strong again."

"A physician has already been here, my child, and has left this prescription. See, there it is," and she pointed to the paper on the cimney-piece. The boy took the paper, and no sooner had he glanc at its contests, than he uttered an exclamation of joyful surprise.

"O mother! It's the best prescription a physician ever wrote; it is an order for a pension, mother—a pension for you—signed by the emperor himself; listen, mother, hear what he says:—

"'Madam:—Your son was fortunate enough to meet me in the city, and informed me of the fact that the widow of one of my best bravest officers was suffering from poverty and sickness, without any menans of assistance. I had no knowledge of this, therefore I can not be accused of unjustice.

"'It is difficult for me to know every thing that takes place in my empire. Now that I do know of your distress, I should indeed be ungrateful, did I not render you all the help in my power. I shall immediately place your name on the pension list for the yearly sum of two thousand florins, and trust that you many live may years to enjoy it.

"'JOSEPH II.'"

The widow and her children were taken under the especial care of the emperor, and a brilliant career was opened up for the boys, who had inherited all their father's bravery as well as their mother's gentle nature.—From Barnes' Fourth Reader.

Gladstone's Private Kindness.

Really great men are apt to like quiet ways in their benevolence. They do good by stealth and blush to find it fame. Their lives a humble but thrifty shoemaker in Berlin, Prussia, who remembers one instance of this with perennial gratitude.

When he was a young man, he went to London and opened a little work-shop, but his gains were so small that he made nothing beyond his present needs, and his hope to earn a home of his own seemed doomed to dissapointment. A worthy German girl at service in the city had become engaged to him, and his pride at first would not suffer him to tell her the whole truth; but when one day, a customer came with a generous order, and he found himself too poor to buy the leather to make the shoes, he felt that he must share his trouble with his only friend.

In the brief hours of a half-holiday they took a stroll together, and among other places visited St. Paul's Cathedral. By the time they entered the famous whispering gallery he had found courage to reveal the whole story of his circumstances. Their presence in the Church suggested the one theme nearest their hearts, and in talking of it, he forced himself to tell his betrothed wife that their marriage was almost beyond hope.

The brave girl encouraged him, and insisted on giving him her own little savings, so that he might purchase the leather and fill his customer's order. Business would improve, and their prospects by and by, she said.

Probably both were too much preoccupied to realize that they stood where 'walls have ears' and cellings are tell-tales—and that there are Englishmen to whom German is no unknown tongue.

Unknown to the young shoemaker, when he went to buy the leather, he was shadowed. The person who followed him was not a detective, but a gentleman who had been commissioned to enquire about him, and had done so with satisfactory results. The shoemaker was about to pay for his purchase, when the leather merchant astonished him by offering to give him credit. The unseen 'shadow' had contrived to say a good word for him in the ear of the merchant.

That open account was the beginning of better days for the poor young man. Prosperity followed, and surprising orders from the wealthiest families poured in. He married and established a comfortable home, and for years was known as the 'Parliament shoemaker.'

Had he stayed in London, he might never have known who his secret friend was, but the longing of his wife for her native country finally decided him to return to Berlin. When he paid his last bill, his dealer told him that the man to whom he owed the credit that put him on his feet was Mr. Gladstone. The great minister happened to be in the whispering gallery at the opportune moment, and had overheard the tale of the young workman's poverty.

When Mr. Gladstone died, a plain, oak-leaf chaplet came from Berlin, through the hands of the British consul in that city, to be placed with the funeral offerings around the statesman's casket. It was the German shoemaker's gift of remembrance—after twenty years—and its simplicity would have delighted the heart of the illustrious Englishman, who was as modest in his private kindness as he was grand in public command.—Presbyterian Witness.

The Printing Press

The lines of this prose poem were dictated to a stenographer on the spur of the moment by Robert H. Davis, of the Frank A. Munsey editorial department, to occupy a page printing-press advertisement placed in Munsey's Magazine for July, 1911, by R Hoe and company.

The "poem" has been paraphrased and copied extensively, but as the original it will go down in the history of current literature as a remarkable tour-de-force.

I am the printing press, born of the mother earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs are of iron, and my fingers are of brass.

I sing songs of the world, the oratorios of history, the symphonies of all time.

I am the voice to to day, the herald of to-morrow. I weave into the warp of the past the woof of the future. I tell the stories of peace and war alike.

I make the human heart beat with passion or tenderness. I stir the pulse of nations, and make brave men do braver deeds, and soldiers die.

I inspire the midnight toiler, weary at his loom, to lift his hand again and gaze, with fearlessness into the vast beyond, seeking the consolation of a hope eternal.

When I speak, a myriad people listen to my voice. The Saxon, the Latin, the Celt, the Hun, the Slav, the Hindu, all comprehend me.

I am the fireless clarion of the news. I cry your joys and sorrows every hour. I fill the dullard's mind with thoughts uplifting. I am light, knowledge, and power. I epitomize the conquests of mind over matter.

I am the record of all things mankind has achieved. My offspring comes to you in the candle's glow, amid the dim lamps of poverty, the splendor of riches; at sunrise, high noon, and in the waning evening.

I am the laughter and tears of the world, and I should never die until all things return to the immutable dust.

I am the printing press.

PICNIC.

The Deaf of Reading will hold their annual picnic at Carsonia Park, Saturday, July 20th. Take the Carsonia Park or Stony Creek cars directly to the grounds. Come one and all.

WINNING.

It takes a little courage
And a little self-control,
And some grim determination
If you want to reach a goal.
It takes a deal of striving,
And a firm and stern set chin,
No matter what the battle,
If you're really out to win.

There's no easy path to glory,
There's no rosy road to fame,
Life, however we may view it,
Is no simple parlor game;
But its prizes call for fighting,
For endurance and for grit,
For a rugged disposition
And a "don't-know-when-to-quit."

You must take a blow or give one,
You must risk and you must lose,
And expect that in the struggle
You will suffer from a bruise.
But you mustn't wince or falter,
In a fight you once begin,
Be a man and face the battle—
That's the only way to win.

Sick Room Recipes.

CHICKEN JELLY.

Use a pound and a half of chicken, or half a pound of an old fowl. Put it on the fire in two and half cups of cold water, with salt, pepper and a celery stalk. In preparing the chicken remove the fat and skin and cut flesh and bones in small pieces. Let it come slowly to boil, removing scum as it rises, then put it on back of stove and let it simmer until the meat is in rags and all the substance is out of the bones. Strain through double cheesecloth, season to taste with salt and let it stand until firm.

Then remove all fat, reheat and turn into individual molds and put them on the ice. In cooking the liquid should be reduced to one cup. Parsley is often preferred to the celery taste, but as the flavor of this herb is so delicate it must be put in when the chicken is almost cooked.

NEW YORK.

News items for this column, should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL Station M, New York.
A few words of information in a letter or on a postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

The Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes will hold its annual picnic, at Forest Park, opposite Schmidt's Hotel, Ridgewood, on Myrtle Avenue, between Ridgewood and Richmond Hill, on Saturday afternoon, July 27th, 1912, from 2 to 9 P.M.

Messrs. Wm. Gilbert, John Wilkinson, A. C. Berg, Jr., Henry L. Juhring, T. E. Litchfield and Mrs. W. G. Gilbert will look after the arrangements of those who attend.

As it will be an old fashioned outing, those who attend should bring their lunch with them. There will be games for prizes. Admission badges will be twenty-five cents, payable at the gate.

The best way to reach the park is to take Myrtle Avenue Elevated trains via Ridgewood from old Brooklyn Bridge, and get off at Wyckoff Avenue, and ask the agent for transfer to Myrtle Avenue Trolley via Ridgewood Hill, and get off at Forest Park. Union Avenue trolley from Greenpoint to Ridgewood also bring you there.

The Knights will hold their first picnic on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 13th, at Dexter Park, Jamaica and Drew Avenues, Brooklyn. The park stands by itself. It is not in a nest of picnic resorts. The transportation facilities are ample at all times. If the weather becomes stormy there is accomdation under shelter for all who attend. Valuable prizes will be awarded to the winners in games. And handsome souvenirs will be given to each lady.

The K. of D. has in the past shown that it knows how to entertain and they intend to put forth extra efforts to make the picnic one that will long be remembered. Further particulars can be found in the ad. on page four of the JOURNAL.

From the look of things, Arverne, Long Island, is going to be the summer headquarters of the deaf this year. Among the permanent visitors are noticed Misses Ruby and Ida Abrams. Mrs. Jacques Loew contemplates making arrangements with them. Mr. Adolph Flezenheimer is at Belle Harbor, a little way from Arverne. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bloom are at Far Rockaway. The Clark boys planned to build a bungalow half a mile east of Arverne. The actual building may start this week.

Mr. Albert V. Ballin is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Masbacher, whose son, Edwin, is widely known resident here almost his whole life. Mr. Ballin finds Edwin to be a extraordinarily bright young man, with strong inclinations for excursions into the realms of science, geography, history and astronomy. With Mr. Ballin as his guide, he will make great progress this summer.

Misses Dora Dunker and Annie Klein with Messrs. Kempf and Sweyd journeyed over by rail to Maunch Chunk, Pa., 119 miles from New York. Arriving there they followed the crowd to the Switchback Railroad (the oldest Railroad in America) up to Mt. Pisgah, 1662 feet above the water. Arriving there half starved they dined at the Summit Hill Inn on a real country dinner. After dinner they went out with the intent of taking a walk, but had the good fortune to meet a Mr. Thomas, of that place, formerly of the Mt. Airy School, Phila. Mr. Thomas being well acquainted with the vicinity, as he works in the coal mines, took us to visit them. We saw mines that have been on fire for over fifty years and still are. All returned on the 5:45 train for Jersey City, tired, but much wiser as to the way coal was gotten. Thanks to Mr. Thomas.

Misses Dora Dunker and Annie Klein with Messrs. Kempf and Sweyed, journeyed over by train, Maunch Chunk, Pa., Sunday, June 3d. Arriving there, they followed the crowd and took the switch back railroad, (the oldest railroad in America), up Pisgali Mountains, reaching 1,662 feet above the tide. Arriving there half starved, they partook of a hearty country dinner at the Summit Hill Inn, where they had the good fortune of meeting Mr. Thomas Williams, a resident of that place and formerly of Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, who, being employed in the mines, showed them around. Miners there all still burning for fifty years back, even during winter storms, coal is seen everywhere, and is very interesting. All came back on the 5:45 train tired, but wiser as to the way coal is found.

Messrs. Arras and Gardner, who finished their collegiate course at Gallaudet, in June, were in New York for a week, guests of Mr. Elwood Stevenson. They visited nearly all the sights worth seeing, and declared themselves as mightly pleased with their stay. They left Tuesday morning, for Albany by boat. After taking in Niagara Falls, they will start for home. Mr. Arras leaving Mr. Gardner at Sandusky, O., Mr. Gardner's destination is Alberta, Canada, where he has a farm. Mr. Arras has been chosen as physical instructor, at Gallaudet College, and begins in September. They both made many friends while in the metropolis, and all wish them luck.

Mrs. R. L. Boswell, of Washington, D. C., formerly of Brooklyn, notified her friends here that she was coming to spend her summer vacation here with her father and mother about the 7th of July, and remain for some time.

Her many friends will be very glad to see her again. When here last she tipped the scales at one hundred and ninety-five pounds. Her friends are wondering whether she has thrown off, or taken on in the Capital City. Under her father's roof, she can surely make up for lost avoirdupois. Anyway fat or thin, she will find us all ready to give her a hearty welcome to Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Blackman, Mr. Robert's nephew, at Brightwaters, Bay-shore, L. I. This is their second visit this summer. Mr. Blackman has added a thirty foot motor launch to his possessions and while out riding the other day they easily caught three fine two-pound blue fish trolling. They did only go for a ride. Brightwaters is a fine place for a summer residence.

Mrs. John L. Connerton, of Geneva, N. Y., and Miss Healy, of Boston, are guests at Miss Nora Joyce's home, and may extend their visit for a fortnight. The trio of ladies were school girls together at the Cabra (Ireland) School for the deaf. Mrs. Connerton's husband was known as little Johnny Connerton, at Fanwood, ere Principal Currier donned the robes of general administrator of the Institution.

Just before the departure of Mrs. C. C. McMann for the summer, a surprise supper was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. C C. McMann at Hotel Marsielles on the evening of June 27th. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McMann, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bothner, Misses Josephine Albrecht and M. H. Jones, Messrs. J. Gass, Wologmot and J. D. Shea. They all had a jolly time.

Miss Louise Turner will leave Tuesday, for Massachusetts, where she intends to spend the summer. She will take little Dorothy Turner along with her. Little Dorothy lost her mother, Mrs. Frank Ecka, not long ago, and Miss Turner has taken her to her home, where she is happy and contented.

Elwood Stevenson is spending a few weeks at Rockaway Beach with his brother, Harry, who has a bungalow out there. About August 1st, Mrs. Stevenson will accompany him on a trip West. Elwood will visit Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and spends several days in Cincinnati visiting relatives.

Attention is directed to the League of Elect Surds' advertisement on fourth page. The Committee by request have consented to award medals. Entries can be sent to Anthony Capelli, School for the Deaf, Station. M., New York City.

Saturday, July 13th, is the date of the Clark Deaf-Mute Athletic Association's Onting, and Ulmer Park is the place. There will be a Championship baseball game and a fine program of games. Every body is going. Are you?

Mr. John Dougherty will leave for Watertown, N. Y., this week, to stay for two months. He would like to meet Mr. Chas. Cooper.

July 6, 1912.—The National Fraternal Society of the Deaf held its fifth meeting in this city all of this week beginning Monday. At the opening session Hon. George Karh, Mayor of the city, welcomed the delegates and extended to them the keys of the city and wished them a royal time. Among other things he praised the city's water, saying it was the best in the world and no member need be afraid to drink all he wanted, and they were welcomed to help themselves freely to it.

Dr. Patterson, Principal of the school, spoke in behalf of the city deaf and wished for the members a pleasant sojourn. A reception was tendered the delegates by the Columbus Division at the A. I. N. Hall, Monday evening at which most of the city deaf were present. It was a pleasant affair and enjoyed by all. About sixty-five regular assigned delegates besides the grand officers make up the meeting. However there are quite a number of visitors!

The sessions are not open to the public. It has been learned, however, that hereafter each division will be allowed but one delegate to the grand meetings and a heavy fine will be assesed against a delegate chosen who does not attend the sessions of the meeting. The Grand Secretary's salary was raised from $800.00 to $1,200.00 per annum and an increase of rates is likely to be made according to the advices given by Actuary Draper who addressed the meeting Friday afternoon.

Saturday marked the close of the week's meetings. There was quite a rivalty among cities for the next meeting, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Los Angels and Omaha aspiring for the honor. Omaha however captured the plum by a small majority.

The following officers were chosen to serve for the next three years: President, H. C. Anderson, of Indianapolis; 1st Vice President, H. B. Plunkett, of Wisconsin; 2d Vice President, Wm. L. Davis, of Pa., 3d Vice-President, H. L. Tracy, of La., Grand Secretary, F. P. Gibson, of Ill., Grand Financial Secretary, Christian C. Neuner, of Ohio; Grand Treasurer, Washington Barrow, of Chicago; Chairman of Trustees, G. A. Christenson, Trustees, Leo. W. Clinnen and Horace Buell, both of Chicago, Messrs Fred Schwartz and E. I. Holycross were appointed trustees to look after Grand Financial Secretary Neuner's books here. Just as the meeting was about to adjourn sine-die Grand Secretary Gibson was called up and one of the members in a few appropriate words in which Mr. Gibson's work for the order was extolled, presented to him in behalf of the members of the Association a silver loving cup. The reciepent was so overcome with surprise that words failed to come to his command to express his feelings, so he merely thanked the members for their good will.

A banquet this evening at the Great Southern Hotel will mark the final of the convention and then most of the members will scatter for their several homes, carrying with them, we hope, pleasant memories of the treatment they received from the hands of Ohio and Columbus deaf in particular.

July 4th was spent at the Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf. About 250 people went up, quite a number from out-of-town getting here the day before to join in the affair. Hay wagons took the party from the car line over. The Advance Society looked after the wants of the inner man, and did a rushing business and could have done much more but for the giving out of the edibles. The uncertainty of the weather the previous day rendered it risky to send up a large supply. After lunch a series of athletic contests followed, cash prizes being given to the winners. About three o'clock a shower came on and put an end to all further games. The acclaim of all who had never visited the Home before was that it is a credit to the Ohio deaf, and that they have just reasons to be proud of their work. The return home was made of four, and all were back in town by six o'clock. It will not be known for several days what the proceeds from the picnic will be, but, they will be near the $100.00 mark, which goes to the Advance Society in the interest of the Home Mr. A. H Schory cameraed the crowd just before leaving the place, and a good picture was obtained.

Mr. Joseph R. Goldberg, the florist of Middletown, Ohio, managed to get away from business and come up Wednesday, bringing along Mr. Jones, Atlanta, Ga. delegate to the meeting. After the convention Mr. Jones will be back to Middletown, and be the guest of Mr. Goldman for a few days.

Mr. Goldman donated 150 nice large carnations of his own raising, a box of candy and a watch to the Home. They were sold during the picnic and netted $21.10. He has never been backward in fostering the charity. He had to return home Thursday night.

The spiritual welfare of the members was certainly well guarded as there were eight ministers to look after it, namely: Revs, Cloud, Michaels, Allabough, Koehler, Taylor, Flick, Whildin and Tracy. Then were several layreaders around acting as a reserve.

There was a conference of Episcopal deaf ministers and layreaders during the week at Trinity Church to talk over matters pertaining to their work with a view of geeting the deaf more interested in church attendance.

A Holy Communion service was held in Trinity Church, Wednesday morning. The collection amounting to $5.00 was donated by the ministers conducting the meeting to the Home.

Rev. Cloud assisted by Rev. Tracy, of Louisiania, conducted services at Trinity Chapel for the deaf last Sunday morning. There was a very large attendance.

We were in Cleveland Saturday last and had the pleasure of attending the Lawn Fete given by the Cleveland Ladies' Aid Society at the residence of Mrs. Elmer McDill Bates, 1607 East 40th Street, in aid of Dwyer Fund. The grounds were spacious and in the evening were lighted up by chinese lanterns. There were about seventy of the deaf and they seemed to enjoy themselves. Nearly $14.00 were realized. We will have more to say of our visit later.

Owing to a shut down in the tin mills at Woodlawn, Pa., Mr. Peter Gillooly is temporarily thrown out of work. He has been taking the respite from work with his parents at Bridgeport, Ohio. He accompanied 3000 millmen with wives and children to Meyers Lake Park near Canton, Ohio, for a picnic recentiy.

The strawberry crop, at the Home amounted to over seven hundred quarts this year, as against one hundred ten quarts last year. The matron, Mrs. Chapman has put up in preserved, and canned one hundred thirty-six quarts.

Mr. Lyman M. Hunt, of Missouri, is to lecture before the deaf, of Cleveland on the evening, of July 16, at Goodrich House. His subject will be: "Back to the Farm Will it Pay?" He will also speak on the Industrial Exposition to be given in connection with the N. A. D. meeting. We hope there will be a large gathering to hear Mr. Hunt.

Superintendent Jones came home last Saturday from his easter trip a sick man, and was confined to his rooms several days. His condition above time was quite serious, but is now able to be up. He will not be able to attend the N. E. A., meeting of which he is Chairman, of the Deaf and Blind Section.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

TWO RARE TREATS FOR YOU. DON'T MISS THEM—"FOR I SHALL NOT PASS THIS WAY AGAIN."

An interesting lecture for the benefit of the adult deaf of Buffalo, N. Y., will be held on Wednesday evening, July 10, 1912, at 7:30 o'clock sharp, in Perkin's Memorial Hall, 45 West Mohawk Street.

Mr. Lyman M. Hunt, Director of Industrial Statistics of the Deaf, N. A. D., of Koshonong, Mo,, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Hunt's subject will be "Back to the Land," with a brief talk on the work of the Industrial Bureau.

You are cordially asked to attend and bring your deaf friends with you. This lecture will be open to both ladies and gentlemen.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 12, 1912.

On Friday evening, July 12th, Mr. Hunt will treat ALL deaf gentlemen of Buffalo to a talk on the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, of which he is a member, and was a delegate to the N. F. S. D. Convention, recently held at Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Hunt will outline all the important facts pertaining to the Society's objects, benefits, etc. It is Mr. Hunt's earnest desire to formally found Buffalo Lodge No. 35 N. F. S. D. Every deaf gentleman should MAKE GOOD this golden opportunity now laid open to him by attending this important meeting in a body. Bring your deaf male friends with you, whether they have an invitation or not, thereby giving all the full benefit of Mr. Hunt's talk. Meeting will be opened at 7:30 sharp in the Conference Room, Central Y. M. C. A., 45 West Mohawk Street. Admission is free to both meetings.

We, the undersigned, earnestly urge you not to miss these meetings as both will be of intellectual pleasure and benefit to you.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Circulars of the coming convention of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf, at Wilkes Barre, on August 22d, 23d and 24th, 1912, are out. They give an outline of the arrangements and hotel rates. There will only be three business sessions, the rest of the time being allotted for pleasure and sight-seeing. Rev. Franklin C Smielau is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements and his address is 835 High Street, Williamsport, Pa.

Although his name is not on the committee, Mr. James Williams, of Wilkes Barre, is rendering very efficient help in securing the best arrangements possible. He is perhaps the most influential deaf person in that section of the State, and his services are not only valued by the Society but those deaf who will attend the convention may be sure that he will give them a good time. It would be a good idea for the deaf of other parts to arrange to spend their vacation at the convention in Wilkes Barre, and there renew old acquaintances and boost the Society. Such a fine opportunity comes but once a year, and only once in several years at one place, so none should miss it. Every deaf person who attends the convention helps, encourages and contributes to its success, even so if not capable of doing a shining act. Therefore, every deaf person in Pennsylvania, also hearing persons who may be interested, is cordially invited to come and be with us and to share the pleasures of the convention and benefit by its work. We repeat, all are WELCOME.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wilson, at the Jefferson Maternity Hospital, on June 18th last. Both are doing well. The day after, while the mother was confined away, her little daughter, Jennie C., was taken sick at home with a severe sore throat. Her father at once took her to St. Joseph's Hospital, but the physician there told him to bring her again the next day for examination. Disappointed and fearing for the worst, the father would not brook delay and took the girl to a doctor near his home who pronounced the child afflicted with diptheria. The health authorities were immediately notified and the the girl was conveyed to the Diptheria Hospital, at Second and Luzeme Streets, where she is now being cared for. This alertness on the part of the father may save the child's life, for he received report that she is doing as well as can be. The mother has not been apprised of the illness of her daughter and she may not learn of it until she returns home.

Mr. Otto Koenig writes us that "the famous bachelor," Mr. Keelins, of Wilmington, Del., and an aunt Mrs. Hart, of Erie, Pa., and also Mr. and Mrs. Fell, of Wilmington, Del., spent a recent Sunday with himself and family.

Miss Anna A. Houston, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Houston, was quietly married to Mr. Horace Smith by the Rev. Mr Crawford, a Presbyterian, at the parsonage, on Saturday afternoon, 29th of June. They are spending their honeymoon at Atlantic City, and upon their return, will live in Frankford. They have our best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Devlin, of Steeleton, Pa., who were married on June 11th, spent part of their honeymoon in this city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Campbell. Mr. Devlin's parents are deaf-mutes.

Mr. Albert Barnett Roop, who is well known among the deaf here, being the son of the late Joseph A. and Elizabeth E. Roop, was married to Miss Edna May Van Artsdalen at St. Alban's Church, Olney, on the fifth of June. They spent their honeymoon at the Delaware Water Gap, and are at home now at 141 Dolphine Street, Olney.

Mrs. Mary H. Rocap spent a week at her son's home at Olney in June. Mr. and Mrs. Reider and Mr. McKinney visited her there one evening and she was delighted to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Collins, of Rome, N. Y., are at present the guests of the Roach family in this city. Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Roach were old time friends and had not met ecah other for forty-seven years.

Mr. Joseph O'Brien, the younger brother of our Patrick O'Brien, was married in Passaic, N. J., on June 20th. Messrs. Patrick and John O'Brien and family attended the wedding from this city. Mr. Joseph O'Brien is the manager of the Passaic branch of the Cudahy Packing Co., as John O'Brien is in Philadelphia. Patrick also works as a meat inspector in the Philadelphia house.

Miss Louisa W. Geiger has returned from a pleasant visit of several days duration in Trenton, N. J.

Among our recent visitors were Mr. Richard McCabe, of Gloversville, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Twichell, of Buffalo, N. Y.

The local deaf are reminded of the change of service from 2:30 P.M. to 10:30 A.M. at All Souls' Church, beginning next Sunday, July 7th.

Remember the moving picture exhibition of "Lorna Doone," a lecture delivered by Dr. E. M. Gallaudet, at the Mt. Airy Institution, on Saturday, July 13th.

On Saturday, July 6th, All Souls' picnic will be held in the woods near Oxford Street entrance to Fairmont Park.

The Clerc Literary Association held its monthly social last Thursday evening. Refreshments were served.

The relgious school conducted by the Society for the Jewish deaf of the Pennsylvania Institnture for the Deaf at Mt. Airy was closed for the summer in June 16th, it will reopen early in September.

We shall esteem it a favor if our friends, and others will keep us supplied with news items during the summer. A postal will do.

All Souls' picnic in Fairmount Park, near the Oxford Street entrance on Saturday afternoon, July 6th, drew a crowd of between fifty and seventy-five persons.

It was not a catch-penny affair, but as free as the air we breathe. It was first a "church family picnic," but yet not limited to the church family. All were welcome to spend a delightful afternoon together in Philadelphia's famous park.

The place of the picnic was an excellent one, but it was principally chosen because of its being easily accessible.

A more beautiful spot could have been selected, but it would not have been so easy to find by our people who came at all hours of the afternoon or at their convenience.

The weather was beautiful through a little too warm. Games were played and the frolic lasted until about seven o'clock. It was, all in all, a most pleasant and enjoyable affair. Of those present we secured the following names, but the list may not be complete.

Rev. C. O. Dantzer, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Sharrar, Mr. and Mrs. Greensbury Warrington and two daughters and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fries and two children, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gunkel, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S Reider, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keeney and child, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Moeller and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hower, Mrs. M. J. Syle, Mrs. Kate Hoopes, Mrs. E. H. Rigg, Mrs. Thomas Breen, Mrs. Helen R. Wilson, Mrs. H. E. Stevens, Mrs. A. Roland, Mrs. Emma Rival, Misses Nellie Lynch, E. Thomason, A. Oulahan, Dora Kintzel, Mae E. Stemple, and Messrs. P. C. Boss, of Baltimore, Md.; Henry J. Haight, William McKinney, Chas. M. Pennell, Abram Frantz, Jas. T. Young, H. E. Arnold, Wm. H. Lipsett, Jas N. Gilmore, R. E. Underwood, Washington Houston, Nicholas Cahn, A. Whittle, Alexander McGhee, and Henry Friemel.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Dantzer and their sons, Orvis and Freddie, have engaged rooms at Wildwood, N. J., through the summer. Rev. Mr. Dantzer will come to the city weekly to continue the services at All Souls' Church on Sunday mornings and return to the shore on Mondays.

Mr. Thomas O'Brien, of Scranton, spent a week with his wife's people in the city, returning home on July 2d last. His wife was formerly Miss Jennie Donohue.

William L. Davis and Harrison Yoder, President and Treasurer respectively of Philadelphia Division No. 30, N. F. S. D., attended the Columbus Convention of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf as delegates from their Division. They expected to return home last Sunday (7th) afternoon after a little more than a week's absence. Their report is awaited with great interest by the local Frats.

Miss Frances Stuckert, of Doylestown, has gone to Buffalo and Canada to visit friends for about a month after which she will go to the Delaware Water Gap to spend the summer. Her parents and sisters are summering at a seashore resort.

Messrs. C. R. Barnett, Wm. C. Cornish and Clarence Kubisch, all of Detroit, dropped into Philadelphia early last week, and being "Frats," were soon in tow of brothers Underwood and Mayer, who helped to make their visit as pleasant as possible.

Mr. P. C. Boss, of Baltimore, Md., who has been here for some time has returned home to consult the family about returning to Philadelphia in case the prospects of a position turn out good.

Miss Hannah Reidy, Mrs. Syle's faithful help, left last week for Troy, Bradford Co., Pa., to spend the summer among her folks as she is wont to do. She is expected to return in the Fall.

The Beth Israel Association for the Deaf is taking a vacation—no meetings to be held until Fall.

The rooms of the Clerc Literary Association remain open through the summer and literary meetings only are suspended.

FANWOOD.

GREAT TIME AT FANWOOD.

Saturday, July 6th, a record breaking crowd was present on the Institution grounds, it being the date of the circus, gymkhana, and games of the Guild of Silent Workers. A little afternoon the deaf began to drop in, and by three o'clock there were nearly six hundred persons present.

The star feature of the afternoon's program was easily the competitive military drill, in which a company composed of the veterans of the cadet corps contested for supremacy in the manual of arms. The names of the winners will be found in the New York column sooner or later.

After the drill, the athletic events were run off. All were exciting and at the same time great laugh producers—particularly the walking race.

In the evening there was dancing the grand march being headed by Mr. Van Tassell and Mrs. McClusky. The music was furnished by several members of the Band who happened to attend the picnic, with Mr. Frederick Fancher as leader. This small detachment of musicians furnished all that could be desired until closing time.

Before the final dance was gone through Rev. Mr. Keiser, asked that a vote of thanks be given to Principal Currier for his kindness in helping to make the affair a success. It was heartily given. Later on another was given to Mr. Van Tassell.

At ten o'clock the festivities came to an end.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

While repairing and improving is going on all over the Institution the main job this year is the renovating of the girls' lavatory. Last year the boys' lavatory was given into the hands of the workmen during the summer months, and came out a miracle of beauty, and modernism. There being no time then the girl's, side was left as it was. This year it will be as throughly gone over as the boy's side was.

The first batch of the July vacationists left a short time ago to enjoy a month of the simple life—or may it be high life—in the mountains, the sea, shore or any old place. Their leaving, of course, cuts down the Institution force to about one-half. We suppose that there will be many changes in the staff in the Fall.

NOTES.

Miss Dolph has charge of the summer school this year in conjunction with Miss Alice Tracy. Last year it was Mr. Thomason, who succeeded Prof. Jones.

Editor Hodgson received a letter from Jean P. Gruet, a young pupil of Fanwood on his vacation. In it Jean says he is having a good time, and wishes Mr. Hodgson a fine time on his European trip.

Editor Hodgson sails for Europe to-day, Thursday, July 11th, to attend the l'Epee convention. While over the pond he will travel through France and Germany. That we wish him a pleasant trip is without saying.

As visitors on the boy's side during the past week we have had Mr. Frank Lux, newly returned from Arkansas, George K. S. Gompers, from West Virginia, and Charles Wiemuth, from Brooklyn.

As is the summer custom, the boys have long ceased wearing their coats. This is a very good idea, for the uniforms are very warm during the dog-days.

The Gallaudet Memorial Guild House.

143th Street, West, near Amsterdam Avenue New York.

WHAT WE SET OUT TO DO:

To erect a Memorial to the late Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, D. D., which would fittingly perpetuate his memory in the City in which he lived and labored; emphasize the work among the deaf-mutes to which his life was so signally devoted; and be a practical and useful means of benefiting the silent people (without distinction of denomination) by education both religious and secular, by entertainment, and by a community interest.

WHAT WE HAVE DONE:

We have, though the generosity of many friends, raised a fund of $24,000; we have adopted admirable plans prepared by Messrs. Satterlee & Boyd of New York; we have awarded the contract for the erection of the Guild House to the New York firm of the Hugh Getty Company, and the structure is now in process of erection.

WHAT WE MUST FURTHER DO:

Raise the sum of $5,000 additional: first, to meet the unlooked for contingency of a deeper excavation for the foundation of the building, owing to the unexpected discovery of a section of "made ground" in the lot; and second, to adequately and becomingly furnish the building, that when completed it may fully meet its varied and practical purposes.

Subscriptions, which h uld be promptly in hand, may be sent to the Rev. Arthur H. Judge, 32 West 84th Street, New York City, or to Mr. Ogden D. Budd, Treasurer, 68 Broad Street, New York City,

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:

Meeting Opens at 10:30 A.M.
Address of Welcome by Supt. John P. Walker.
President's Address.
Reading of Minutes.
Report of the Treasurer.
Report of Committee.
Unfinished Business.
New Business.
Speeches and Questions relating to the Welfare of the Deaf.
Important Questions for the Deaf to Consider are:
(1) Does the Civil Service discriminate against the Deaf?
(2) Does the Employers' Liability Law hinder the Deaf in getting work?
(3) Deaf Impostors. Other questions if any.

THE LLOYD MEMORIAL.

Presentation Address by David Simmons, of Rahway.
Unveiling of the memorial by Miss Ethel Collins, of Barnegat.
Speech of Acceptance by Supt. John P. Walker, in behalf of the School.
Speeches by Prominent Deaf present.
Election of Officers and Installation.

NOTE—There will be an adjournment at noon for lunch, which will be served gratis in the dining room of the School, the time to suit the convenience of the School authorities.

All are cordially invited to attend the convention. Mr. John P. Walker, Superintendent of the School, assures us that everything possible will be done for the comfort and entertainment of the guests.

The meeting will be of special interest, because of the fact that the new boys' dormitory will likely be completed and ready for inspection.

The committee appointed to take charge of the Lloyd Memorial are:—George S. Porter, Trenton, N. J., Chairman and Treasurer; Isaac R. Bowker, Trenton; and David Simmons, Rahway. They are empowered to transact all necessary business connected with the memorial. Contributions to the Memorial can be sent by mail to either G. S. Porter, Silent Worker, Trenton, N. J.; or R. M. Robertson, 73 Sanford Avenue, Kearney, N. J.

By order of PAUL E. KEES, Vice-President.
R. M. ROBERTSON, Secretary-Treasurer.
